Social and Personal

THE biggest social event of the season and the most important, so far as debutantes of the winter are concerned, is the opening dance to be given by the Richmond German Club in the ball room of the Masonic Temple this evening. The "Monday" dances are always unusually handsome affairs, and the Germans to be given this year on alternate Monday evenings bid fair to exceed anything given by the club for a number of years past. The German to-night will begin promptly at half-past 8 o'clock, and Colonel J. Lane Stern will lead as usual. Colonel Stern will lead with Miss Nell Carneal, a debutante of this season.

At Natural Bridge.
Mrs. Branch Cabell and James Branch Cabell spent Thanksgiving at Natural Bridge. Mrs. Cabell and her son will probably remain at Natural Bridge for at least ten days longer before returning to their home in Richmond.

Card Party Saturday Night.
Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Ellington entertained at a very attractive card party at their home, 1817 Monument Avenue, on Saturday evening in honor of their debutante niece, Miss Ruth Porter, of Charlotte, N. C., and Miss Alice Nelson, of this city. Debutantes of this season and last were entertained at cards from 8 to 10 o'clock, when the men were invited to the reception following. The Ellington home was decorated entirely in a color scheme of pink and green. Trailing vines and Southern smilax draped the walls, and Killarney roses were used in big gilt baskets, and with cascades of ribbon and wall pockets of the same pink flowers were arranged through the rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Ellington received with the guests of honor. Mrs. Ellington wore a handsome gown of white lace made over yellow, with a corsage bouquet of orchids. Miss Porter wore a gown of hand-painted pink chiffon trimmed in pale pink flowers, and carried a large bouquet of Killarney roses. Miss Nelson was gowned in yellow chiffon, and carried a bouquet of violets and lilies of the valley.

FAULKNER HEIRS WILL NOT CONTEST

Agreement Reached as to Division of Estate—Other Winchester News.

Winchester, Va., December 3.—Members of the family of the late Isaac H. Faulkner, who died recently, leaving a large estate, consisting of business and residential property in Winchester and a large farm in Frederick county, decided yesterday to withdraw the suit which had been instituted in the Corporation Court for the purpose of breaking his will. They have reached an amicable agreement. In his will, Mr. Faulkner divided his estate equally among all his children, two by his first marriage and four by his second marriage, and made no provision whatever for his widow, Mrs. Belle Faulkner. She and her children and one stepson filed a suit to contest the will, claiming that he was not of sound mind at the time he made it, and that he had been unduly influenced by his son-in-law, Dr. Frank Shupp, of Hagerstown, Md., who had been named as one of the executors. Yesterday James P. Reardon qualified as executor.

It is reported on good authority that a wealthy resident of Winchester, whose name has not as yet been divulged, intends to stand for a number of important and extensive improvements to the present building of the Winchester Memorial Hospital. A large annex will be built on the north side of the building, containing a system of silent telephones will be installed in all parts of the institution. The telephones will be operated by a signal system.

Mrs. Alvira McDonnell, of Lebanonn Church, Shenandoah county, has not altogether given up hope of recovering some eminent surgeon remove two extra arms and legs from her year-old girl. The child, who was born with four legs and four arms, each perfectly formed, was taken to a Baltimore hospital last week, and a number of medical men, who examined her, declared that operations would endanger the life of the child. Mr. and Mrs. McDonnell, however, have decided to wait awhile until the child becomes stronger, and it is the expectation that when the operation is performed, the child will be able to walk on her two remaining arms and legs.

Alfred Ferguson, a former Winchester postmaster, who while superintending the work of loading apples at the old Cumberland Valley Railroad elevator, fell from the shaft, fracturing his skull, from which his death resulted two hours later several days ago, is credited with having saved the life of Colonel (afterward Governor) Charles T. O'Ferrall, of the Twelfth Virginia Infantry, during the Civil War. Ferguson, who was a native of Paris, Fauquier county, was O'Ferrall's chief scout, and as such performed many hazardous duties. He was standing near his commander when the latter was shot and severely wounded at Upperville. Catching O'Ferrall as he fell, Ferguson rushed on the battlefield with him, had prompt medical attention given and nursed his commander back to health.

Mr. Ferguson, who was seventy years old, leaves his widow, who was formerly Miss Matilda S. Little, of Fauquier; two sons, Scott, of Richmond, and another, of Washington, and one daughter, Miss Belle Ferguson, of Winchester. A brother, Abner Ferguson, lives at Bluemont, and another brother, Rev. Sidney Ferguson, died several years ago. The latter was John S. Mosby's chaplain.

During Thanksgiving time, many of the ministers of Frederick county churches were well "poued" by their parishioners. In some cases, it was necessary for the church people to press wagons into service in order to haul to the village parsonages all the good things which had been donated for the various pastors.

The Fairfax Club, of Winchester, one of the most exclusive organizations of the kind in the State, has decided to offer for sale its present building on W. Waters St. and buy the old Episcopal Female Institute property, an option having been obtained from A. B. Richards, the present owner. The institute property was the headquarters of General Phil. Sheridan when he was in Winchester during the war between the States, and is opposite the new post-office building and the Handy Memorial Library.

Winchester Lodge No. 887, B. P. O. E., held its annual memorial services this afternoon in the City Hall auditorium, and the local theatre was crowded to the doors. The principal address was made by Senator-elect Blackburn Smith, of Berryville, Clarke county, who spoke on the principles of the order. Two solos were sung by Miss Virginia Faulkner Fuller, of this city. The prayer was made by Rev. W. D. Smith, rector of Christ Protestant Episcopal Church.

Men were working day and night on the big improvements now being made by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at Brunswick in order to provide additional facilities for the classification of westbound freight traffic. Twenty-five new tracks are being laid as fast as the men can place the rails and drive the spikes, and these will accommodate an additional cars, thereby increasing the capacity of the yards from 6,390 to 7,292 cars. When the present enlargement is completed, it is claimed Brunswick will have the largest freight yards in the United States, if not in the world.

Rev. J. W. Duffy, D. D., pastor of Braddock Street Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of Winchester, has returned from Moorefield, Pa., where he was the principal address on Thursday at the unveiling and dedication of a monument recently erected by popular subscription over the grave in Mount Olivet cemetery of Conrad Moore, founder of the town. Moore laid out Moorefield in 1777, having been authorized and commissioned to do so by the Virginia Legislature. He died about 1799, and for more than 100 years the location of his grave had been lost.

While Dr. Duffy was visiting at Moorefield several months ago the discussion arose as to where Moore was buried. Dr. Duffy recalled that when he was a boy playing on the hills near Moorefield his parents had told him where Conrad Moore had been buried. Going out on the brow of a hill during his visit, Dr. Duffy surveyed the surroundings and then pointed to the spot where he said Moore had been buried. There was nothing on the surface to indicate that a grave had been made there, but upon Dr. Duffy insisting that it was the place, workmen were employed to excavate, with the result that pieces of the coffin and a few bones were found just where Dr. Duffy said the grave had been dug. He led the movement for a Moore Monument, and the bones of the town's founder were moved from Mount Olivet Cemetery, where the shaft was unveiled on Thanksgiving Day.

Brown Pitzer, of Middleway, Jefferson county, committed suicide several days ago on the farm of Frank Robbins, near Martinsburg, by hanging himself with a piece of tar rope. He had been shucking corn for Robbins, and when he failed to appear at the house at supper time, Robbins went out only to see his body dangling from a tree limb. The man leaves a large family connection. No motive for the suicide has been found.

Some of the Winchester and Frederick county apple growers who had exhibited at the first annual apple show in Washington, which was held last week, have returned home with prizes. The prize offered by the Washington Board of Trade for the largest and best exhibit from any State, was won by John L. Bond & Sons, of Winchester. The prize was a large silver cup, appropriately engraved.

Oscar Jenkins, convicted of forging the name of George Reynolds to a check, has been sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Circuit Judge J. W. Harrison, of Winchester, sitting in the Clarke County Circuit Court at Berryville.

Weddings at Chatham.
Chatham, Va., December 3.—A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. A. L. Meadows on Wednesday. When her daughter, Miss Kathleen Ruth, became the bride of F. M. Idings, of Spencer, N. C. Rev. J. E. Brooks performed the ceremony. The home was decorated for the occasion. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Idings left for Spencer, N. C., where they groom holds a position with the Southern Railway Company.

Miss Carrie Fox and Lee Motley were married at the home of the Rev. W. D. Barr in West Chatham Wednesday, Mr. Barr officiating. The couple left for the groom's home near this place.

BRUTAL MURDER STIRS CITIZENS

State and County Together Offer $350 for Slayer of Curtis Branch.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Arvonia, Va., December 3.—Officers and citizens of the upper end of Buckingham county are putting forth every effort to locate and capture the bold thief and burglar who so brutally murdered the old Confederate soldier, Curtis Branch, at Manteo, on last Monday night. The reward offered by the Governor, at the instigation of Commonwealth's Attorney Edmund W. Hubard, has been supplemented by the county Board of Supervisors until the total amount offered is now $350. Besides the work of the local authorities, the United States government is expected to send a detective to help ferret out the crime, as the robbery which followed the murder, included the looting of the post-office at Manteo and the carrying away of post-office funds and stamps. As yet those who are working upon the case are unwilling to give out any information, though it is known that there are suspects of the crime. The murder was the most brutal and revolting known in this section since the two Stewart brothers were murdered and burned at their home three years ago.

There will be a special term of Buckingham court on December 12 for the purpose of trying the now celebrated "Dutch Gap case." This case is concerned with the determination of a property line in the state belt of the Arvonia state district, and has been in the courts for some time. The line in question is the one separating the state properties of A. L. Pitts, purchased from the estate of the Funtalons, and those of Roberts, Jones at D. Livingstone Pierce, of this place. The party will go to Richmond and take motor launches down the river to the home of Miss Potts. Among those who will go are Mr. and Mrs. White W. Hughes, D. Livingstone Pierce, D. W. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Roberts, Miss Eleanor Morgan and Mrs. J. T. Pierce. The young couple will make their home in Arvonia.

WILL BE TAKEN TO CHARLESTON

Young Man Arrested in Asheville on Charge of Passing Worthless Checks.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Asheville, N. C., December 3.—The Police Department of this city has a rather unusual case on its hands, having arrested Leroy Bowman, who gave his address as 862 Hewitt Place, New York City, a few days ago, on the advice of the chief of police of Charleston, S. C., where it is alleged the young man has passed a number of worthless checks within the past few weeks.

When arrested, Bowman was a guest at one of the city's leading hotels, and had been there for several days. He had no money, and is indebted for the amount of his hotel bill, it is said.

Within a short time after Bowman's arrest, it was seen that he was not in good health and a local physician examined him. It developed that he was suffering with a serious nervous trouble, and inquiry developed the fact that he has been under the care of a physician since his arrival here. Upon the recommendation of the doctor, the young man was placed in a sanatorium here, where he is being treated for the trouble. It is thought that he will be able to be out within a few days, when he will be taken to the South Carolina city.

He claims that so far as he knows, he is ignorant of the charges which have been preferred against him, and stated to a local policeman, that he might have passed the checks without knowing what he was doing, as he declared that he had been in such a condition lately that he is unable to account for his actions. The physician who has attended him, states that the young man's condition is really serious.

It is expected that within thirty days the Asheville Fire Department will be equipped with motor-propelled trucks, orders having been given for two hose wagons, equipped with sufficient ladders to put out an ordinary fire, which will be driven by motors. These hose wagons when more ladders than will be carried on the hose wagons will be needed. The new wagons are to be delivered by the first of the year, and they may be returned to the manufacturers after three months' trial if they prove unsatisfactory. If they are accepted, it has been stated that an automobile patrol wagon will be purchased.

By the middle of the month, it is expected that the rifle range for the use of the local companies of the North Carolina National Guard will be completed, the contractors having finished the work of excavating the property and having started the concrete work. The range will be similar to those which are situated at Raleigh, Gastonia and Goldsboro, and it is expected that many competitive shoots will be held at it. Already the Asheville Gun Club is being reorganized, the promoters having been promised the use of the range under certain conditions. The site is on the car line just outside the city limits, and the land has been leased for ten years. The establishment of the range represents an approximate expenditure of $1,000.

There was established in Asheville yesterday a mission for the sick, Rev. J. S. Williams, who was recently released from active work by the Methodist Protestant Church having been selected as chaplain, at a salary which will allow him to devote his entire time to the work. The mission is supported by the churches and fraternal orders of the city, and the duties of the chaplain consist in looking after the hundreds of sick people who come here annually in hope of recovery. The chaplain will report to the visiting committees of the churches and the lodges the names and addresses of all their members who are "strangers in a strange land," and they will follow up the calls of the chaplain. The movement was started by the Ministers' Association, of this city, and was heartily indorsed by the lodges. It is estimated that 4,000 sick people come to this city each year, and until yesterday there has been no systematic way in which to reach them, when they desire spiritual or fraternal aid.

The board of managers of the Mission Hospital announces that during the spring, the present building will be supplemented by a $75,000 fireproof structure, which will be built in three sections, and which will be constructed in such a way that the work of the hospital will not be interfered with during the erection of the new buildings. This hospital is open to both white and colored patients, although they are quartered in different buildings, and it is supported entirely by donations. The Hospital Sunday Association each year takes up collections in the city churches for the support of the institution, and many private contributions are received by the board of managers. The hospital is conducted as a charitable institution for those who are unable to pay for their attention, although there are private wards for those who desire them.
